RICHARDSON'S
IRISH LINENS,
DAMASKS, DIAPERS, &C.

CONSUMERS of RICHARDSON'S LINENS, and those desirous of obtaining the GENUINE GOODS, should see that the articles they purchase are sealed with the full name of the firm,
RICHARDSON, SONS & OWDEN,
as a guarantee of the soundness and durability of the Goods.

This caution is rendered essentially necessary, as large quantities of inferior and defective Linens are prepared, season after season, and sealed with the name of RICHARDSON, by Irish Houses, who, regardless of the injury thus inflicted alike on the American consumer and the manufacturers of the genuine Goods, will not readily abandon a business so profitable, while purchasers can be imposed on with Goods of a worthless character.

ANOTHER TRIUMPH!

THE subscriber respectfully invites the attention of the public, and purchasers particularly, to the superior PREMIUM PIANOS Manufactured by him. A splendid assortment constantly on hand.

Our Pianos have received a Premium two years in succession, 1856 and 1857, at the Fairs of the American Institute, Crystal Palace, in competition with most of the leading manufacturers of New York and Boston, and are unquestionably of the best quality of tone, full, round, and brilliant, as well as finish and durability, and we flatter ourselves, by the approval of renowned artists, in venturing to say that our Pianos stand superior to many others, and equal to any Grand Piano in regard to volume of tone and elasticity of touch, combined with the greatest firmness, which is very rarely met with in other Pianos.

We respectfully solicit an examination from strangers and friends, to convince themselves of the above before purchasing elsewhere. All our Pianos are warranted.

1859. SPRING! 1859.

OUR stock for the approaching season offers inducements to purchasers visiting our market, which have never been equalled hitherto.

In consequence of the demise of our late partner, Mr. S. Lowenthal, and in order to come to a clear settlement with the administrator and heirs of Mr. Lowenthal's estate, we have been obliged to dispose of our entire stock on hand, and start afresh with a selection of which have just been gotten under the superintendence of our Mr. Oberndorfer, in New York. In the CLOTHING TRADE
SPRING AND SUMMER GARMENTS
it is an entirely new feature to find a new and select stock that does not show the traces of inexperience. Our Mr. Oberndorfer, however, is not only acquainted with the Eastern markets, but he combines therewith a thorough knowledge of our home wants, and has thus been enabled (in taking the place of the late deceased Lowenthal) to get up an assortment that will at once convince every judge that fitness for our market, taste, variety and cheapness, have all been held strictly in view during the process of manufacture.

A complete assortment of Furnishing Goods always on hand.

Seventh District Congressional Convention.

At a meeting of the Central Committee appointed by the Bighth of January Democratic Convention for the Seventh Congressional District, pursuant to notice, at the Courier office, it was unanimously agreed that a District Convention be called to meet at Lagrange on Saturday, the 14th of May, 1859, for the purpose of nominating a Democratic candidate for Congress.

Unquestionably we did, in our youth, regard slavery as being a great evil wherever it existed. —Lou. Journal.

Will you tell us how you regard it now? There are not a few in these parts who think you regard it as being as great an evil now as you did when you opposed the annexation of Texas as a slave State or the admission of Kansas with a pro-slavery Constitution. You have not said you do not regard it as such an evil now, and we do not think you can say so and tell the truth. Your advocacy of intervention, from now until doomsday, would not make any one who is familiar with your record believe that you are any more of a friend to slavery than you were while among the Abolition clockmakers and wooden nutmeg raisers of Connecticut. You might easily convince the people of the South that you are an advocate of intervention, with a view to going with the Black Republicans for the abolition of slavery in all the Territories, should the Abolitionists ever get the power, but you can't convince them that you advocate this doctrine with a view to the protection of slavery by Congress in the Territories of the United States.

O'BANNON, KEAN & Co.'s OMNIBUS LINES.—It will be seen by the advertisement in another column, that the omnibus lines of this firm are now in full operation, and ready to attend promptly to all calls to carry passengers and their baggage to and from the Nashville and the Jeffersonville Railroads, and the hotels and any part of the city. There is not a more reliable and responsible firm in the city, than that of O'Bannon, Kean & Co., and all who know them need not be told that their omnibus business will be conducted energetically, promptly and efficiently. They will have the best teams, and the most careful and attentive drivers, and will do everything possible to meet all the wishes of the traveling community. Their agents are always to be found on the incoming of the Nashville and Jeffersonville Railroads, and commissions given them will be faithfully attended to.

BUCKLEY'S SERENADERS.—Masonic Hall was filled again last night to witness the third performance of the above named troupe. We can but repeat the encomiums that we published yesterday, and advise our public not to throw away the opportunity they have of seeing this far famed company of wits, artistes and musicians. The musical chorus was finely rendered, and the sweet and impassioned singing of George Swain Buckley therein, brought down the house in a storm of applause. Miss Gould in her role of Leonora far surpassed her performances of the two previous nights.

It will be seen by the call in another column upon George V. Rutherford, the attentive agent of the Buckleys, that he will receive a complimentary benefit Saturday evening. As Mr. R. is "at home" in Louisville, we prophecy a perfect "crammer" on that occasion.

See the advertisement for to-night in another column.

HON. JNO. C. MASON.—This distinguished Democrat is announced as a candidate for re-election to Congress from the Nineth District. This will be gratifying intelligence to his friends in Kentucky as well as throughout the Union. While such statesmen and patriots as A. H. Stephens, Geo. W. Jones, and John Letcher, are leaving the national House of Representatives, it is truly encouraging to know that "honest John Mason," of Kentucky, still remains at the post of duty. He is a true Democrat of the old school, and an incorruptible patriot, a statesman of enlarged views, a Kentuckian, and every inch a man. Of course he will have no serious opposition.

ANCIENT AND ACCEPTED RITE.—The members of this order of Free Masons, who number about fifteen in this city, celebrate to-day (Holy Thursday) by an annual festival. Wherever a Rose Croix Mason may be, whether in solitude or amongst his brethren, he is required by the vows of his order to devote a bit and a sup to the memory of the day, and of the brotherhood.

THEATER.—A very attractive bill is offered at this popular place of amusement this evening. The play is "Madeline, or the Foundling of Paris," in which Mrs. Sinclair takes the part of Madeline, and Mr. Sedley that of Remy, the Reprobate. To conclude with the comedy of the "Follies of a Night." As the stay of these artistes is short, those who wish to see a good piece well played should not fail to go to-night.

FORGER ARRESTED.—Jesse W. Wheat, alias W. C. Williams, has been arrested in Wheeling on the charge of attempting the forgery for $2,000 on the Allegheny Bank at Pittsburg. The Marshal of Pittsburg came here in search of him, having taken his alleged partner at Cincinnati, but was informed by dispatch that Wheat was found in Wheeling. The forgery was a draft from Henderson & Co., New Orleans, on the Union Bank, New York.

TURTLE SOUP, STEAKS, &c.—A fine green sea turtle has been received at Walker's Exchange. It will remain on exhibition until to-morrow, and then pass into soup, steaks, &c., for the benefit of the many epicurean patrons of that popular establishment. Who will have a plate of soup or a steak, or rather who will not?

☞ Owing to the unexpected indisposition of one of the principal conductors, it becomes necessary to postpone for a few days the concert and exhibition of the Main street Sunday School, advertised to take place to-night at the hall of the Lafayette Engine House. Full notice of the time when it will take place will be given.

☞ The sixth lecture of the course of Rev. H. F. Harrington, of Cambridge, Mass., entitled "Life Scenes and Pictures from Gospel History," will be given in the Unitarian Church this evening, at 8 o'clock. Subject—"Jesus before Pilate and Herod."

☞ A young girl about fourteen years of age, named Emily Deboy, living in Randolph county Ind., committed suicide a few days since by hanging. The cause which prompted her to the act is unknown.

☞ We received a copy of the Cincinnati Commercial last night at 7:30 P. M. via the Louisville and Lexington Railroad. This is now decidedly the quickest route between this city and Cincinnati.

☞ Wm. Gilmore, who was wantonly shot by a watchman as he was walking the street, has recovered from his wounde, and will start to New Orleans this morning with a pair of coal boats.

SUICIDE.—Mr. Achilles Fuller, a highly-respectable citizen of Mt. Vernon, Posey county, Ia., committed suicide on Wednesday last, by cutting his throat with a razor. He leaves a family.

☞ The Philadelphia firemen are again indulging in their favorite sport of fighting and shooting each other. A steam department will remedy all such evils.

☞ Thanks to the Agent of Adams' Express Company for Cincinnati and St. Louis papers in advance of the mails.

☞ Unpaid letters are in the Lexington post-office addressed to S. Otis and S. H. Ford, of Louisville.

☞ We call attention to a fine house for sale, advertised in this issue. It is very desirable from its central location.

☞ Our streets for two or three days past, have been disagreeably dusty.

☞ "Young's Spirit of the South" has been much enlarged and improved.

Our neighbors of the Journal and Courier, after having disagreed for some time, have at length come together in favor of intervention in the Territories. We thought, even while our neighbor of the Courier was swallowing Lecompton fire (a la Signor Blitz), that he would eventually unite with his old ally.—Lou. Democrat.

We know that our position is right, although we confess that it is a very bad sign to see the Louisville Journal leaning towards any political truth. We are hopeful, however, that the truth can stand the advocacy of even the Journal for a season. We took our position because it was right, and if the editor of the Journal advocates something like it, because it is popular, we can't help it. There is, however, a marked difference between the Courier and the Journal upon the Territorial question, and in that variance consists the wrong of the latter. The two papers are not half as near together as the Democrat and Journal were in refusing to admit Kansas into the Union as a slave State under the Lecompton Constitution. Indeed, the editors of the Journal and Democrat got so near together then that they have ever since been calling upon one another a dozen or more times per day. It is thought by some that they even sleep together, as neither of them has recently given any indications of being awake.

☞ The Odd Fellows of Newport and Covington propose having a grand celebration of the 40th anniversary of the establishment of the order in the United States on the 26th of this month. There will be a procession, and orations will be delivered by Col. Thomas L. Jones, of Newport, and Rev. Samuel L. Adams, of this city. Odd Fellows everywhere are invited to be present and participate in the proceedings.

☞ A new and dangerous counterfeit on the Merchants' Bank of Salem, Mass., is in circulation. It is of the denomination of $3.

MORTALITY.—There were 192 deaths in Philadelphia, and 400 deaths in New York, last week.

☞ The distance between Memphis and Cairo is now traveled, nearly all the way, by railroad in the short space of twelve hours.

AFTER HIM.—Joshua F. Bell is after Magoffin.—Shelby News.

And will undoubtedly remain so.

GRAND PIGEON SHOOTING MATCH—STAKES $100.—The Grand Match at Pigeon Shooting, which has been in contemplation for several weeks, and has been the subject of great interest and much betting among our sportsmen, came off yesterday afternoon on the beautiful tract of field-land near and north of the Fourteenth street depot. The competitors were W. W. King of Fort Wayne, and Bland Duncan of Louisville, Kentucky.

The distance measured off, was thirty-five yards. Twenty pairs were shot at by each competitor. The usual rules were rigidly observed. It will be seen that King exceeded Duncan by one shot. Below is a statement of the shots made yesterday:

KENTUCKY STOCK.—The Maysville Eagle presents its readers with the following first class stock item:

AN EXTRA No. 1 MULE COLT.—Mr. John S. Mitchell, of the vicinity of Mayslick, has a mare which foaled a mule colt, on Saturday night last, three feet nine and a half inches in height. The standard was set at this figure by Mr. Telephus Thompson, and the colt rounded fully up to it. Three feet four inches is considered by stock growers over the average height of mules at foaling. Three feet six is reckoned No. 1, and three feet nine and a half extra No. 1.

The subject of our sketch is a jet black, mealy nosed, well proportioned, active, handsome and sprightly, was sired by Laytham's "Black Spaniard" Jack, who sold this spring for $1,500, to Nathan Janes, of Johnson county, Missouri. Mr. Mitchell offers $150 cash for a match to his suckling. We hope some of our stock growing friends will be able to "fill the bill."

☞ Mr. Jere Hall, of this county, sold, a day or two since, two steers weighing each 1900 pounds. The price obtained was 4½ cents per pound, gross. —Flemingsburg News.

☞ On Thursday night last, the dwelling house kitchen with some of their contents of Mr. Z. N. Bell, two miles south from town, was destroyed by fire. We understand the fire originated from the cooking stove.—*Shel

Progress of the United States Under Democratic Rule.

The Hon. Stephen A. Douglas, in years past the loved of Democracy, not only of the South, but of the nation, has recently promulged the Black Republican heresy, that a Territorial Legislature may rightfully pass laws unfriendly to slavery, or that there may rightfully be no laws at all for the protection of slavery within its bounds. The Illinois Senator, by printed speeches and pamphlets, has sent forth this Abolition heresy all over the land, and some Democratic editors, even in the South, have been so far carried away by the fame of the promulger, as to fall into the fatal snare thus laid for the South and the Democracy as a national party. If this heresy is to be insisted upon, there is no doubting what it will lead to after completely sectionalizing the great political parties of the country. And in anticipation of the disasters that may ensue, let us briefly review the successive steps of the Democracy in extending the Territories and increasing the States of this Union, before such a suicidal heresy was proclaimed by those whom the party had honored and made the migbty men they were esteemed to be both at home and abroad. A plain statement of facts is all that is required.

When the Revolntionary war was ended, and the United States established as an independent sovereignty, our country cousisted of thirteen States and five Territories, or appendages to these States. One of these Territories belonged to Georgia, a second to North Carolina, a third to Virginia, a fourth to Massachusetts, and a fifth was claimed by both New York and New Hampshire. The thirteen States, including the five Territories, were as follows, with their geographical dimensions in square miles, annexed in the table we give:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| New Hampshire | | 9,280 |
| Massachusetts | 47,000 | |
| Maine included | 31,766 | |
| | | 78,766 |
| Rhode Island | | 1,306 |
| Connecticut | | 4,674 |
| New York | 47,000 | |
| Vermont included | 10,212 | |
| | | 57,212 |
| New Jersey | | 8,320 |
| Pennsylvania | | 46,000 |
| Delaware | | 2,120 |
| Maryland | | 11,124 |
| Virginia | 61,352 | |
| Kentucky included | 37,680 | |
| Ohio included | 39,964 | |
| Indiana included | 33,809 | |
| Michigan included | 30,924 | |
| Illinois included | 34,000 | |
| Wisconsin included | 30,924 | |
| | | 317,650 |
| North Carolina | 50,704 | |
| Tennessee included | 47,000 | |
| | | 96,804 |
| South Carolina | | 29,385 |
| Georgia | 58,000 | |
| Alabama included | 50,722 | |
| Mississippi included | 47,156 | |
| | | 155,878 |
| Total area | | 817,897 |

Such was the total area of our country in 1789, when the present Constitution was adopted. It now only remains to note the additions which, from time to time, have been made to the original public domain, and to enumerate the different States which have been added to the Union, until the original number of thirteen has been swelled to thirty-three. It will be found upon an examination of the records, that since the days of Washington, the Democracy have been in power whenever a new Territory was acquired, or a new State added to the Union.

The Territories we have acquired since the organization of the Government of the United States have been as follows:

Oregon (including the Territory now known as Washington was discovered by Capt Gray, of Boston, in 1792. The British also set up a right by discovery and occupancy to this country. The conflicting claims were adjusted by the treaty of 1846, when the right of the United States was admitted to embrace 309,052 square miles of territory. When the Territory was discovered Washington was President, but when its boundary was settled the Democracy had at the head of the nation President Polk.

The purchase of the Louisiana Territory was made by President Jefferson, an apostle of Democracy, in 1803. The public domain acquired by this magnificent purchase embraced no less than 899,579 square miles, now occupied by the States of Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, and the Territories of Nebraska, Kansas, and the Indian Reserve. It was a domain greater than the entire original United States, with all their territories, and embraced every variety of climate and soil in the Union. It cost this Government 60,000,000f, or about $12,000,000. The first Emperor Napoleon made the sale, and the first Democratic President, Jefferson, made the purchase.

Our next acquisition of territory was that of Florida in 1821. This purchase was made by the Democratic President, James Monroe. By it we acquired not only 59,268 square miles of territory, but got control of the Gulf of Mexico. Previous to this acquisition from Spain, the States of Georgia, Alabama, and Mississippi, did not border upon the Gulf. A long line of Spanish territory known as West Florida intervened, and cut them off from this noble body of water, into which is now ponred the commerce of 20,000 miles of navigable rivers, and 8,000 of Southern railroad.

Texas was next acquired during the Administration of James K. Polk, in 1845. By this Democratic move we acquired 237,504 square miles of territory, among which may be found some of the finest lands smiled upon by the kindest sun, and blessed by the best climate in the world. The articles of annexation provide that Texas may be subdivided in four States besides the present, thus making five States with an average area of over 47,000 square miles—each State being as great as New York, next to the largest of the original thirteen.

Our next acquisition was the State of California, and the Territories of Utah and New Mexico, under President Polk, by the treaty of Guadaloupe Hidalgo, in 1848. By this Democratic act we acquired 632,157 square miles of territory. This was our last acquisition of territory, and the total of square miles added by the Democracy to the original confederacy during a period of little more than half a century, will be found to be 2,136,157. This is more than double, and nearly three times the total area of the original thirteen States and five Territories.

During the same period, if we include the three States added to the Union under Washington, the Democracy have added twenty new States to the original thirteen. The following are the additions in the regular order of time:

Vermont 1791, Kentucky 1792, Tennessee 1796, Ohio 1802, Louisiana 1812, Indiana 1816, Mississippi 1817, Illinois 1818, Alabama 1819, Missouri and Maine 1820, Michigan and Arkansas 1836, Texas, Florida and Iowa 1845, Wisconsin 1846, California 1850, Minnesota 1858, and Oregon 1859. These States came into the Union under Democratic Presidents or Congresses, and to the Democracy attaches the honor of their admission.

Such is a brief record of the connection of the National Democracy with the geography of the United States. It is perfectly certain, however, hat no more such work can be done by this party, if those who would lead it are permitted to poison its national principles with the Black Republican heresy of unfriendly legislation to slavery in the Territories, or no legislation at all for the protection of slavery in the public domain acquired by the common blood and treasnre of the nation.—The National Democracy will have to throw overboard all such pilots, or become a sectional party, with one set of principles for the North and another for the South. And when the party is thus sectionalized by the reckless demagogues who presume and are allowed to do its thinking, the foundation will be laid for a speedy and inevitable dissolution of the Union. The Democracy can stand on the Cincinnati platform rightly comprehended and properly viewed; but with the leaden weight of the Douglas plank of unfriendly legislation to slavery in the Territories, or no legislation at all for the protection of the institution, the platform and the party, as a national concern, must go down together. There is no use for the party, as a national organization, to attempt to carry such a dead weight. It would crush a legion of parties, no matter how strong, and break into atoms any platform bound together by both Northern and Southern ties. And when this party is crushed, it will not take long to write the future history of the Union.

Louisville as a Manufacturing Point.

It is not difficult to show that Louisville possesses as many advantages and as few disadvantages for manufacturing as any Western city, or in fact any city in the Union. Ground for the erection of factories, storehouses, and dwellings, can be bought cheaper here than in Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, or St. Louis. Buildings can be constructed as cheap, and probably cheaper, than in either of those cities. Fuel is as cheap here as at St. Louis or Cincinnati. The prices of labor are no higher here than in Cinciunati, and are certainly lower than in St. Louis. The expenses of living are less here, particularly in the item of rents, than at either of those places. The principal raw materials for manufacturing, say iron, and other metal, timber of all kinds, cotton, wool, hemp, &c., can be had here as cheap as manufacturers can obtain them elsewhere, and of as good quality as are to be found in any market. There is no sort of difficulty in procuring the necessary operatives to work any factory, and at prices as low as are paid elsewhere. All that is necessary is to create a market for labor, and it is promptly and freely supplied. Louisville has a larger amount of incorporated bank capital than any other Western city, and larger, we think, in proportion to the amount of business transacted here, than any city in the Union. Besides we have a number of private bankers, whose means and resources are as substantial, and whose credit is as undoubted as those of the banks themselves, and the incorporated banks daily find themselves brought in competition with individuals and private bankers in the purchase of business paper. We venture to assert that at no time during the past twelve months have the banks in this city been able to purchase as much prime commercial paper as their means and inclinations would have prompted them to do. We have as easy access to market for manufactured goods as any Western city; and when the Nashville railroad and the Memphis branch road shall be completed, we shall have direct access, by rail, to Southern Kentucky, Middle and West Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, North and South Carolina, Southern Virginia, besides the markets of Arkansas, Louisiana, and Mississippi, which are now open to us by the Ohio river.

This brief statement of facts, which are evident to every thinking man, must satisfy the most skeptical that Louisville is not wanting in any of those advantages of means or location essential to a prosperous manufacturing and commercial community. What then is wanting? Nothing, except that owners of real estate, capitalists, and men of business should foster and cherish all and every legitimate manufacturing enterprise that offers itself to them, and by employing a reasonable portion of their means, and aiding with their credit and business judgement, all that could be desired can be accomplished, and all public and private interests can be subserved. The owner of real estate would find a demand for his unimproved property for factories, and dwellings for operatives. The capitalist would have a better and more legitimate return for the use of his money than he can get by shaving notes in the street, and the active business man would find his business and profits largely increased, and increased to the prejudice of no one, but to the advantage of all.

☞ Mr. Barnum, though usually successful in his lecturing tour through England, recently met with a reverse at Oxford. Some of the under graduates were resolved on putting him down, and on his appearance greeted him with groans and hisses. Barnum took it quite coolly, saying that as they had paid their money, they might take their choice and hear him or not; that it rested entirely with themselves, for he was prepared to carry out his contract, but if they preferred to receive nothing, he should not quarrel with their decision, but pocket the affront with the cash. At last, however, some one threw a bit of orange peel at him, when he naturally became indignant and retired. It was altogether a most disgraceful proceeding, and highly deprecated by the more respectable portion of the audience.

CUBAN CONVENTION.—Notice is hereby given to every Cuban Junta in the United States and Cuba, that one or more members from each Junta, and all others who are friendly to the immediate acquisition of Cuba, are requested to meet in convention in the city of Vicksburg, Mississippi, on the 10th of May, 1859, for the purpose of adopting measures which will secure the acquisition of Cuba by civil migration—that being the day following the meeting of the Southern Commercial Convention. Each delegate to said Convention is very respectfully invited to attend.

ARRIVAL OF THE ARABIA.

WARLIKE NEWS.

HALIFAX, April 20.—The steamship Arabia arrived with Liverpool and London advices to Saturday, the 9th inst.—a week later.

Dispatches received by the Arabia embrace the following items of news:

The steamers North Briton and City of Washington arrived out on the 7th. The steamer Etna was off Liverpool on the 9th. The steamer Fulton, which sailed on the 6th inst., carried out the announcement that the English Ministers had decided on a dissolution of Parliament, but no day has yet been fixed for that event. The country is flooded with addresses to the Queen on the subject.

The Indian loan bill for seven millions had passed.

The continental advices are very warlike and threatening. The latest intelligence says that the crisis is at hand. Great bodies of Austrian troops are on the move for Italy. There is also great activity in France. The Bourse is depressed and prices had declined nearly one per cent. in the last two days.

The steamship City of Washington had a splendid trip out of eleven days. During the voyage the steamer fell in with the crew of the ship Grey Oak, from London for New York, which had been abandoned at sea. The crew were picked up and carried to Liverpool.

Foreign Commercial.

LIVERPOOL, April 8.

The sales of cotton for the week have been 39,000 bales. The decline in cotton is one-sixteenth, chiefly for superior qualities; the market closed firm.

LIVERPOOL, April 8.

All qualities of cotton have declined, but inferior qualities have been most affected.

Breadstuffs—Very dull.

Provisions—Firm.

THE TRIAL OF HON. DANIEL E. SICKLES.

Fourteenth Day's Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—The court opened at half past ten, with the usual crowd in attendance. After Sickles came in he had a hurried conference with Brady and Stanton. Geo. B. Wooldridge's cross-examination was continued, but nothing of importance was elicited. The examination in chief was resumed. The sofa is near the piano, which is at the extreme end of the room. After Sickles returned that Sunday there was great buzz and confusion in the house; some dozen people there were talking in couples in regard to exercising caution in the investigation. He told me I must be careful and not use Mrs. S.'s name, for suspicion was worse than dreadful reality, and he had knowledge that his wife had not been there on Thursday. It was that which depressed me in having to tell him it was Wednesday and not Thursday that lady was seen there.

I rode with Sickles to the neighborhood of the house in Fifteenth street on Friday. He did not get out of the carriage or make inquiries. I returned there about 7 o'clock that night. It was a dark, stormy, snowy night. I did not stay more than half an hour in the neighborhood. Drove from there to the Capitol; cannot say what time I got to the Capitol; understood that I was to see this lady when she came there and ascertain whether she was his wife or not; I was to find it out by seeing the lady myself; saw the negro boy Crittenden and found he was full of knowledge about Key going there; the negro did not know who the lady was, and did not have to make inquiries; the information came from the negro and to me; I was acting on the first directions, which were to find out, as his friend, whether this lady was his wife or not. He did not say anything to me on Friday evening about it; he said nothing except what was in the letter about my being guarded in inquiries; he did not say whether I was or was not to make inquiries of other parties.

By Sickles' manner I should think, that my communication to him on Saturday afternoon about the dresses of the lady and about the day being Wednesday, and not Thursday, completely convinced him; he was quite prostrated. It was after he had shown me the anonymous letter that we drove to the neighborhood, and he indicated to me the house. He said he had been there that morning; he said his hopes were that it was not she; a note addressed to me by Sickles on Saturday afternoon said I should be cautious in my inquiries about using the name of Mrs. Sickles, as suspicion not proved or not true was worse than the dreadful reality; another note said he had made inquiries which assured him it was not his wife who had been there; cannot recollect the names of any persons in the lobby of the House on Friday or Saturday afternoon while Mr. Sickles was so agitated; I can remember Captain Goddard and Mayor Barrett and McClosky being in Sickles' house just after the homicide.

I cannot say what time elapsed from Butterworth's going till my seeing the people running; it seemed one continuous matter; the words of Mr. Sickles, "what shall I do?" were not addressed as a question to Butterworth, but were an exclamation; I was very much affected that day; I can't estimate the interval between them going out and seeing the people run; five minutes might cover the whole of it, there is one matter in which I think I am understood; it might appear that the words "what shall I do" was a question to Butterworth; they were not; it was in his manner; it appeared to be in this way (witness holding his hands to his head;) Butterworth's words "be quiet" were to soothe and calm Sickles.

Albert A. Megaffey knew Key; tolerably intimate with him; I was a member of the club up to the time of its dissolution and met Key there; I had a conversation with Key in relation to Mrs. Sickles the day or two immediately preceding the Napier ball, which was the 17th of February; recollect it from something that occurred at the ball between Key and myself; never had regular set conversations with him about the matter, but I have referred to it three or four times when I met him.

Brady—I desire you to state this conversation.

District Attorney—We object.

Brady—We propose to prove by this witness—first, that shortly before the decease of Key the witness had noticed certain conduct on his part toward Mrs. Sickles which led him to suggest to Mr. Key that the latter was observed to be over attentive to her, in answer to which Key remarked that he had a great friendship for her, that he considered her a child, and had paternal feeling toward her, and he repelled indignantly the idea of having any but kind and fatherly feelings towards her; second, at a subsequent conversation in relation to the same subject when witness recurred to it he suggested to Key that he might get into danger or difficulty about the matter; Key laid his hand on the left breast of his coat, and said "I am prepared for any emergency."

Ould argued that evidence of these conversations is inadmissable; they had not been in any manner connected with the accused, and it did not appear they had been communicated to him.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—General Burnett, Surveyor General of Kansas and Nebraska, has been informed by the Commissioner of the Land Office that in consequence of the smallness of appropriations it will be necessary that the cost of surveys in his district shall not exceed $26,000, of which $10,000 is appropriated to surveys in Nebraska and $16,000 for surveys in Kansas.—The Kansas survey fund has been apportioned for the survey of the New York Indian lands. As soon as surveys are completed, half a section will be allotted to each of the Indians who may have removed there under the provisions of the treaties of 1838 and 1842; after which the balance will be thrown into the public domain and opened to preemption. It is one of the most valuable sections of Kansas territory.

From St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, April 21.—The overland mail of the 28th has arrived. The Legislature had been on a visit to Oakland. The bill to divide the State had passed the House. Also the bill calling a convention of delegates from California, Oregon, Washington Territory and Arizona, to consider a plan for the construction of a Pacific Railroad.

Business was dull and markets unchanged.

Arrived—Ships Polynesia, and Christopher Hall from Boston; Ocean Pearl, from Baltimore; Alice Counce and Ocean Belle, from New York.

River and Weather.

PITTSBURGH, April 20, M.—River 7 feet 10 inches by the pier mark and falling. Weather wet.

CINCINNATI, April 20, M.—Weather clear and mild. River fell 3 feet during the last 24 hours.

ST. LOUIS, April 20, M.—The river continues to recede slowly. Nothing new from any of the upper streams. Weather clear and sultry.

THE RIVER continues falling quite fast, with but a little over eight feet water on the falls for steam boats at dusk last evening. During the previous 24 hours, the river has receded fully two feet, at the head of the falls and by to-morrow the falls will barely be navigable for ascending boats. The weather yesterday was mild, cloudy at times, and clear last evening.

By our dispatches it appears that the river continues to steadily recede at Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, and the Mississippi at St. Louis is falling.

The flood in the lower Mississippi continues to prevail, and the officers of the Baltic the last arrival, report the river at New Orleans within an inch or two of the flood of 1858. A portion of some of the wharves are covered with water, and some of the wharves are covered with water, and some of the wharves are covered with water, and
